

Admiral Is Named Head of New Counterterrorism Center

BY MARK WILSON — GETTY IMAGES

President Bush, center, tours the new National Counterterrorism Center in McLean, where he announced the nomination of retired Vice Adm. John Redd as the center's director. The news coverage of the presidential visit gave the public its first glimpse of the new facility. Story, A4.